

DEMAND LETTERS

Quite frequently, a person may find themselves in a situation where they believe they have been wronged by one or more individuals or by a particular business. I am available to write letters to these individuals or businesses to demand that they make it right with you. Examples of demand letters include, but certainly are not limited to, the following:

- Money is owed to you but has not been properly paid
- You paid for particular services that you never received
- You paid for a product that you never received
- You are being billed for something that you have already paid for or that you shouldn't be billed for
- Improper entries on your credit report
- You are going through divorce proceedings and your spouse is not playing by the rules
- Your ex-spouse is not adhering to the provisions in a signed judgment relating to issues such as parenting time, child or spousal support, division of property, transferring titles to property, providing life insurance for support obligations, etc.
- Someone is causing a nuisance or keeping you from the peaceful enjoyment of your property

If you need a demand letter written on your behalf, please do not hesitate to contact our firm at 503.693.6641.